What We've Done & What We're Working On

Comparing Plans

Does your organization have a strategic plan, framework, or roadmap for how to rebuild systems that affect education and young people? (Or any plans for making positive changes.)

We believe that de-siloing is important for collective impact, so we're working on analyzing different plans to find commonalities and opportunities for action.

Email us any plans you'd like to share, even if they're still in the outline stage. They can be kept confidential!

Latest Blogs: Pre-employment options

& Honoka'a Cup-of-Cheer

While career pathways may be more complicated these days, the upshot is that we have more options and flexibility, as well. We wrote a blog post to help students and their families understand some of the options and how to look for them.

We also shared some photos from a fun school event with Honoka'a High & Intermediate School and Honoka'a Elementary School!

Post-High Parent Survey Still Open

We're still seeking information on what kinds of post-secondary pathways information and workshops would be most helpful for families of students.
